

BAKEWARE HAVING A TEXTURED SURFACE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Bakeware having an embossed textured pattern formed on the food-contacting surface and on the exterior surface. In the preferred embodiment, the textured pattern on the food-contacting surface is made up of a plurality of spaced-apart raised diamond-shaped surfaces separated by depressed grooves. The textured pattern of the exterior surface consists of a plurality of spaced-apart depressed diamond-shaped surfaces separated by raised ridges.